—An anxious parent residing in the country, who was somewhat doubtful of his son's prosperity in the city, wrote, inquiring how much money he was saving, and received a reply that the young man cleared over all expenses $2.65 per day. Being atill in doubt, the father wrote for particulars 22.00 how hodid it. The youth replied that his hung around all saloons watching for "treats," and in this way got one hundred drinks a day, worth, at ten cents a drink, $10. He has no expense for lodgings, as the police invariably arrested him, and the next meeting the courtined him $7.35, which, subtracted from $69, left just $2.65.

left just $2.65. -The unfortunate ex-Empress Charlotte. of Mexico, who at present is cared for in a castle near Brussels, is or pretends to be percastle near Brussels, is or pretends to be per-fectly oblivious of everything or everybody around her, and holds conversations only with imaginary persons. When the Belgian King and Queen visit her she first gazes at them distractedly and then turns her back to them. Her distate to society is so great that she will not even permit her maid to dress her. Her memory regarding some things is nevertheless. memory regarding some things is nevertheless remarkable. On cartain days she orders her remarkable. On cartain days she does by writing an order on a slip of paper and laying it where it will be seen; if her request is not attended to, the order will be repeated in the same manner and attention called to the neglect.

-At 8 o'clock in the morning the proprietor of a small saloon put down the cur-tains, locked the door, and was walking off, when he was halled by a policeman. The walon keeper crossed the street to the officer and said: "Dot blace is glosed up for you week." "What's the matter?" said the officer. week." "What's the matter?" said the officer.
"Well, I gant stand such foolings aroundt. In de first blace a man comes in and says:
"Well, Dilden is elected," and he kicks ofer the chairs. Putty soon comes anudder man in, und he says: 'Hooray! Hayes has got 'em now!' and he kicks ofer a dable. Anudder mans in a lesdle while comes in and galls out: 'Nopody is elected any more!' und he preaks some glasses. Shust like dot has it been for a week, and I am glean discouraged. If some-pody says Dilden is elected, I pelief dot; if somepody says Hayes is elected, I pelief dot; if somepody says Hayes is elected, I feels like dis gountry whas going to some dogs right away?" 'Yes, it does bother one!' consoled the officer. "Tell all der poys dot I have glosed up for returns, and dot somepody gan't get in," replied the man, and he turued his face homeward.
